

New Blankets web traffic shows enthusiastic response to the Wooley Garden of photos introduced in March 2015

The chart below shows the “Wooley Garden” effect on New Blankets web traffic, when people learned about it in the last couple of days in March.

The “number of hits” – biggest chart jump in the last few days of March – shows that many, many people took a little walk in the garden over those days, even if they didn't download the entire index file and so on. (The index file is now 1/3 the original size, by the way.)

Quite an opening reception!
